- b) Whenever a defect is remedied, we shall be obliged to bear all the expenses required for remedying the defect, notably transport costs, travel expenses, labor and material costs, provided such expenditure is not increased as a result of the fact that the purchased item was shipped to a location other than the place of performance.
- c) Whatever the case, a prerequisite for our liability for defects shall be that the customer carefully examined the goods delivered for completeness and propriety immediately after their arrival at his location, even if samples or specimens had been sent previously. Defects shall be reported in writing immediately, with the proviso that such notification shall not be sent later than eight workdays after receipt of the delivery item at the destination, or – if such defects were not detectable through a proper examination – within seven workdays following their detection.
- d) The following shall apply to transport damage: When it comes to defects detectable upon delivery, including defects in quantity and weight detectable upon delivery, we shall only be liable if the customer raises complaints to the carrier about such defects upon receipt of the goods and if the customer has the carrier acknowledge such complaint in writing and notifies us of such complaint in writing without delay. In the event that damage is detected after delivery, a definite prerequisite for our liability shall be that the customer reports the complaint to the carrier in writing immediately after detecting the damage – but not later than 14 days after taking delivery – and advises us of such complaint in writing without delay. If damaged goods arrive late, we shall be liable only if the carrier is notified within 7 days after the goods have been made available to the customer. In such a case, we shall also be advised of the complaint in writing without delay. Complaints shall contain a description of the defects, which shall be as detailed as possible.

- c) The liability for any culpable injury to life, body or health shall remain unaffected; this shall also apply to mandatory liability under the Product Liability Act.

- e) Any claims by the customer for damages arising from the application and interpretation of analytical results obtained through the use of our products shall be excluded.
- f) The limit defined under Paragraph (e) shall also apply if the customer demands compensation for useless expenses instead of compensation for the damage. Furthermore, the customer's claims shall be limited to the amount of the interest he holds in the performance of the contract.
- g) If liability for damages towards us is excluded or limited, such limitation shall also apply with respect to the personal liability for damages of our employees, workforce, staff, representatives and vicarious agents.
